Our works are parody, based on the inspiration brought to us by historical figures and popular culture. Hence this special shout-out to all names noted above.

We are aware that a part of the content we make, shares similarities with copyright protected works. We emphasize that these aspects of our creations are parody and therefore falls under Fair Use as mentioned in Section 107 of The Copyrights Act. These aspects are being portrayed in a way we deem honorable and humorous. The aspects that are being used, are being utilized in a way that it won't cause any amount of commercial harm for the involved or confusion among the public.

If - in worst case scenario - we get a cease-and-desist order, we will do our utmost best to come to an agreement with any party involved. If all efforts are in vain: all to that studio related artwork will be replaced with a proper placeholder and a tailor-made surprise message.
